

Mark your calendars and save the date for our 2025 Pediatric Feeding Symposium on September 11th & 12th 2025. We would like to invite you and your organization to join us for this year's conference.

We are excited to have you share your resources and expertise with the pediatric feeding disorders community. At our feeding symposiums we have speakers cover topics related to the four domains of Pediatric Feeding Disorders (medical, nutritional, feeding skills, and psychosocial). We typically have had about 100 attendees. This includes in-person attendees, virtual attendees, volunteers, and sponsors.

Please check out our Sponsor Page to see our Sponsor Levels and sponsor application form.

We also have several options for you to offer help besides the typical financial support. Your organization could help with...

- A Venue: Cost of location or the donation of a space to use.
- Speaker Costs: Speaker fees, travel, hotel, or food costs.
- Conference Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, or the Snack.
- Grab Bags: Bags, Fun things for the bags for in-person attendees.
- Raffle Prizes: Items or Gift Cards for a fun give away at the end!
- Thank You Gift Cards for Speakers & Volunteers: minimum of $50

We are grateful to our 2024 Sponsors who helped make last year's Feeding Symposium a success! Here are some comments that we received...

- "The parent panel is always so helpful! Speakers are always good and it's a great place to network with providers of other specialties."
- "I enjoyed hearing from presenters from a variety of disciplines. It was valuable to get unique insight from parents and from several different medical fields."
- "This conference has helped me understand the difference between psychosocial and physical patient needs and therapies. The traditional approach to feedings based on timing and volume/calories ignores developmental needs of infants and young children and risks destruction of learning critical hunger cues"

We are excited to see you at our 2025 Pediatric Feeding Symposium. Please share this email, the attachments, and our website with your colleagues and clients!
